Brand Voice

Tone, principles, and copy examples

Voice Tone

Confident, specific, results-oriented

Core Principles

- Use active voice always
- Lead with outcomes, not processes
- Include numbers and proof points
- Avoid marketing jargon and buzzwords

On-Brand Copy Examples

> Turn ₹40L of idle inventory into a 3-month billboard campaign

> 2× brand visibility. Zero cash spend.

> Exchange excess stock for premium ad placements

> ₹2.5Cr in media value unlocked for enterprise clients

Why these work:

- Specific numbers and proof points (₹40L, 2×, ₹2.5Cr)
- Clear outcomes stated upfront
- Active voice with strong verbs
- No jargon or buzzwords

Off-Brand Copy Examples

~~We provide innovative barter solutions~~

~~Leveraging synergies across media ecosystems~~

~~Transforming the advertising landscape~~

~~Best-in-class media exchange platform~~

Why these don't work:

- Vague claims with no proof points
- Corporate buzzwords like "synergies" and "leveraging"
- Process-focused instead of outcome-focused
- No specificity or measurable value

Writing Guidelines

Headlines

Lead with the benefit

Include numbers when possible

Keep under 10 words

Use active verbs

Body Copy

Short paragraphs (3–4 sentences)

Concrete examples over abstractions

Client names and case specifics

Active voice throughout

CTAs

Action-oriented verbs

Sentence case preferred

State the next step clearly

Create urgency when appropriate
